

STANDOUTS IN SUSTAINABILITY – true beacons for the future of wine

🌙:COWHORN, Viognier, Applegate Valley, OR 2022 70
Cowhorn Vineyard and Garden was the first certified biodynamic vineyard in Southern Oregon; started in 2005 with the help of renown biodynamic horticulturalist Alan York. In 2018 they opened Oregon's first commercial Living Building as their tasting room.

♻️:TROON, "Amphora Amber", Vermentino, Applegate Valley, OR 2021 60
Troon Vineyard and Farm is a historic location for Southern Oregon wine having been first planted in 1972 but went through a renaissance in 2017 when Bryan & Denise White purchased the property. The whole farm was methodically torn up and replanted to biodynamic standards. In 2020, they were alpha testers in the Regenerative Organic certification and in 2022 became one of four farms in the world with Regenerative Organic Gold certification.

RUINART, "Blanc Singulier, Edition 18", Reims, Champagne, FR NV 152
Ruinart's Blanc Singulier series celebrates a single vintage of Champagne without the restriction of harvesting exclusively from that vintage. Maneuvering climate change is a particular challenge in Champagne, and creative ideas like Ruinart's will encourage winemakers to continue to find solutions to this ever-present problem.

🌿 LEMELSON, "Jerome Reserve", Pinot Noir, Willamette Valley, OR 2021 89
Lemelson Vineyards was started in 1999 and had sustainability in mind when building their 12,000-case capacity gravity flow winery. Erik Lemelson, owner, is an environmental lawyer, a climate change and energy policy activist and a builder of beautiful high performance LEED buildings. All seven of their estate vineyards are certified organic and maintain a sense of place and respect for tradition.

🌙:CHÂTEAU FERRIÈRE, Grand Cru Classé, Margaux, FR 2018 120
Château Ferrière is one of fourteen third growths of the 1855 classification and the only Grand Cru Classé in Margaux to be certified as biodynamic by both Demeter and Biodyvin. They also cultivate the largest certified biodynamic area of all the Bordeaux vineyards.

🌿 DOMAINE JEAN-LOUIS CHAVE, Saint-Joseph, FR 2020 148
The Chave family have been wine growers in the Rhone Valley since 1481 in an unbroken lineage of 16 generations. They do not have a website, nor do they boast any certifications or farming style, but they are well known to be icons of organic and biodynamic wine. They do not seek out or need promotion for what they think is right: taking care of the land to produce incredible wine.
